ELSTREE FILM STUDIOS

FOR INDEPENDENT
PRODUCERS

Making 16 Pictures
At Once

London, Dec. 11.
A scheme for building at Elstree large new British film studios for independent producers was announced yesterday by Amalgamated Studios Ltd.

It is claimed that £250,000 will be spent on them, and that they will be the world's biggest studios designed especially for independent film-makers, as distinct from great concerns like Gaumont-British and London Film Productions, which have studios of their own.

Mr. S. H. Soskin in responsible for the organisation of the company, and the builders will be Sir Robert McAlpine and Sons (London) Ltd.

The studios, it is stated, will provide accommodation for filming 16 pictures at once. The equipment will include:

- 8 large studios;
- 2 review and re-recording theatres each equal to a 1,000-seat cinema;
- 18 cutting rooms;
- 4 private projection theatres;
- Separate administration offices for each producer;
- 20,000 sq. feet of set-building
shops;
- 100 dressing-rooms for crowd
and part artists;
- Costume space for 5,000 artists;
- Laboratories incorporating all the latest devices for tricolor photography and the development of negative and positive film in large quantities form part of the scheme.

EFFECT OF GLANDS ON CRIME

MEDICAL ASSESSORS
ON THE BENCH

Suggestion By Lord
Dawson

London, Dec. 14.

The influence of glands on crime was emphasised by Lord Dawson of Penn last night. He suggested the appointment of medical and scientific men as Assessors on the Judicial Bench, as was done in naval and other technical matters.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Medico-Legal Society, in London, he said:

"Contact between law and medicine must become closer. The link between body and mind is to be found in internal glands, and the merest trace of difference between this secretion and that secretion may produce such notable changes in conduct and behaviour as really to effect responsibility."

PROTECTING SOCIETY

Health and illness, for the doctor, had their parallel in justice and injustice for the lawyer, Lord Dawson continued. If it were right that the law should protect society from the damage produced by crime and mental disorder, it was equally right that medicine should protect society and the future generations from the transmission of disease; and it was in this connection that he made the suggestion for the provision of medical assessors.

Lord Dawson was replying to the toast of "Medicine and the Law," proposed by the Master of the Society of Apothecaries, Sir
William Wilcox, who said that law and medicine were becoming more and more united, and that medical psychology was playing an increasing part in the administration of justice.

They saw, in the development of eugenics, the suggestion, as in Germany, of medical certificates for marriage; sterilisation of the unfit, and the bill in the House of Lords on the subject of euthanasia.
Mr. Claude Mullins remarked that lawyers were always active in reforming everything but the law.
Sir Edward Tindal Atkinson, expressing appreciation of the valuable results of "forensic medicine" in connection with legal investigations, said that the ideal of a great national Medico-Legal Institute was a sound one.

WOMAN'S DEATH AT 110

London, Dec. 14.

Mrs. Caroline Merriott, who was believed to be the oldest woman in England, died yesterday in the Mayday Hospital, Thornton Heath.
She celebrated her 110th birthday in the hospital on October 2, when she gave a tea party to the other patients. Born at Tooting Corner, 10 years after Waterloo, Mrs. Merriott remembered the Crimean War, the Corn Law riots, and the Coronation of Queen Victoria. She was married twice, and her second husband died in 1904. She worked in a laundry until she was 85, and had been an inmate of the hospital for over four years.
Until two days ago she had a glass of beer each day.

TO GET RID OF STOMACH TROUBLES

An English Doctor writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."
(Signed) Dr. H. G. M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why 'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

NEW ZEALAND BEATEN

England's Rugger
Triumph

London, Jan. 4.

The Prince of Wales was among the crowd of 70,000 which saw England defeat New Zealand by 13 points to nil at Twickenham today. At half time England led by 6 points.

The teams took the field as previously announced, except that Mitchell changed places with Ball in the "All Blacks" line-up. The turf was on the soft side and the weather was distinctly chilly.

England were the first to attack, the three-quarters making ground, only to be repulsed by the New Zealanders, who kicked into the England half, but they in turn were driven back by a beautiful left-footed kick to touch by Owen-Smith, the South African Test cricketer.

The New Zealand forwards had won the majority of the scrummages, but owing to the very fast breaking-up of the England pack, their backs were unable to make much headway.

The All Blacks, making the most of their chances, were attacking vigorously, but just when it appeared as if the game was going to develop into a series of midfield mauls, Gadeny, Candler and Gerard were featured in a passing movement which resulted in the last mentioned sending out an ideal pass to Prince Obelensky, who made an electrifying dash to score a wonderful try. Dunkley hit the cross-bar with his attempt at goal from an easy position.

Stung by this reverse, New Zealand strove desperately to come on level terms and both forwards and backs kept England on the defence with short rushes until Crammer, in a brilliant burst, handed off all tacklers before passing to Gerrard who transferred to Prince Obelensky, on the opposite wing, for the naturalised Englishman to race over for an unconverted try to give England a lead of six points at the interval.

DROPPED GOAL

Soon after the resumption Crammer swung round and dropped a beautiful goal off his left foot from 200 yards to give England a 10 points lead.

The New Zealanders now appeared to have lost their fire and played like a beaten side, the luster England forwards crashing into their outposts before they could move.

England took scrums instead of lineouts and were continually heeling the ball. A grand break-away by Crammer paved the way for a try by Sever, whose 30-yard dash left the New Zealand backs standing, but Dunkley failed to convert from an easy position.

The New Zealanders tried desperately hard to pierce a defence in which Candler was magnificent. Time and again he flung himself at the feet of the opposing forwards.

The game now hung in England's territory, the side putting everything they knew into defence. On one occasion a back a yard from his own line passed to Owen-Smith, who found touch as three New Zealanders tackled him.

"The defence, however, came through a gruelling ordeal with flying colours and the final whistle saw England maintaining the 13-0 lead."

TEST CRICKET

Easy Victory For Australia

Capetown, Jan. 4.

Australia won the Third Test against South Africa by an innings and 78 runs, the home team being dismissed cheaply after they were forced to a follow-on on a soft wicket after heavy rain.

The South Africans were all out for 182 in the second innings. Nourse and Sedle being the only batsmen to offer any resistance. Grimmett and O'Reilly attacked effectively, taking nine wickets between them for under a hundred runs.

Full scores were:—
Australia: 382 for 8 declared (Fingleton 121, Brown 112, Crisp 1 for 30, Langton 1 for 94, Robertson 2 for 75, Balch 4 for 128).
South Africa: 102 (Nourse 44, Grimmett 5 for 32, Fleetwood-Smith 2 for 21, McCabe 1 for 9, O'Reilly 1 for 34) and 182 (Sedle 59, Grimmett 5 for 56, O'Reilly 4 for 35).

M.C.C. MATCH IN NEW ZEALAND

Double Century By Harry Parks

Invercargill, Jan. 4.

Playing in a two-day game here to-day, the M.C.C. scored 489. Harry Parks playing a chanceless innings for 201, scored in 284 minutes. He scored freely all round the wicket, hitting three sixes and 19 boundaries.

E. R. T. Holmes, the skipper, scored 100 in 75 minutes, hitting four sixes and 12 boundaries in an innings in which chances were missed.

James Langridge, who scored 118, hit a six and 12 boundaries, while McGowan (5 for 96) was the most successful bowler.

Southland's opening batsmen spent a short time at the wicket without scoring when time intervened.

PEIPING-MUKDEN LINE INCIDENT

Peiping, Jan. 4.

Three Chinese bandits, travelling as passengers, attempted to hold up the Peiping-Mukden express near Luanchow yesterday. Japanese gendarmes intervened and shots were exchanged. The bandits leapt from the moving train and escaped. A Japanese gendarme and five Chinese passengers were injured, two of the latter seriously.

A later message from Tientsin says that the bandits are alleged to have been East Hopei militiamen, who wanted the express to disembark them at a station where it does not stop. An altercation about the matter led to the firing.

SOVIET EDUCATION DISCLOSURES

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Moscow, Jan. 3.

A revealing disclosure concerning the starvation wages paid by the Soviet State to the professors of the Moscow Pedagogical Institute is contained in Friday's issue of the newspaper "Kommunisticheskaya Pravda" which states that the monthly salaries of the teaching staff vary between 28 and 175 paper roubles, or roughly between two and 270, only one professor getting a salary of 257 roubles.

The paper stresses that in these conditions the teachers naturally are compelled to accept any other work, which may be offered in order to eke out their existence. The purchasing power of the above mentioned salaries may be gauged by the fact that a pound of meat costs five roubles.

Another side light on the efficiency of the Soviet Schools system is afforded by the editorial in Friday's semi-official "Investia" which deals with a campaign waged against illiteracy in Soviet Russia, and states that many of the Soviet authorities are lacking in the most elementary knowledge, and official documents are often drafted in completely deficient spelling.

ITALY'S POINT OF VIEW

"Atrocities" By
Ethiopia

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Rome, Jan. 3.

The whole "Italian nation" is filled with indignation at the "frequent barbarous atrocities" alleged to have been perpetrated on Italian prisoners by the Abyssinians. It was stated on Friday in the authoritative quarters here, where it is pointed out that Italy will be compelled to resort to the severest reprisals in the course of which "the most modern weapons of chemical warfare will perhaps be employed." An exception was also taken to the recent reports of the foreign press on the Abyssinian campaign which were described as exaggerated or completely false. It is denied emphatically that the Italian troops in the Shire territory burnt the Catholic Churches as well as that Ras Gugsa had been court-martialled and shot.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary, the Italian losses of planes were stated to be only four, including the one shot down by the Abyssinians on Thursday near Makale, and the other not having been brought down by the enemy but forced to land owing to mechanical defects.

In contrast to the semi-official hint as to the possibility of poison gas being employed shortly, and in the agitation to this effect which has been carried on by the press for last two days, Friday's issue of all Rome papers abstain from any mention, as if by word of command. The Italian press again seems to have been taken completely by surprise at the storm of protest which this agitation has raised in England, and the United States, the public indignation being considered as all the more inopportune to the latter country since the law making the neutrality policy severer has just been submitted to the Congress.

HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Crowded Attendance at Spoon
And Practice Shoot

The firing-points on the naval range at Stonecutters were crowded on Saturday afternoon, when the Association held its ordinary Spoon and Practice Shoot, while, alongside, the Dockyard Rifle Club was in friendly competition with a team from H.M.S. Kent.

Conditions were extremely difficult, for, although the light was good, there was a fish-tailed wind from the back, which required the utmost vigilance on the part of those firing, and the younger shot was sadly worried, at times, when the wind changed from right to left, and then, in so many seconds, back again to its original direction. Once again, the most noticeable feature of the shoot, was the increasing number of "1914" rifles which were in use for the first time, and for the time being, it will be impossible to fix the new handicaps, which the use of this rifle necessitates.

The "Grimes" Spoon, awarded each month to the individual full member, whose scores made in that period, show the greatest improvement, has, for the month of December, been awarded to Leading Aircraftman A. C. Dolman, of the Royal Air Force, Kai Tak Station.

At the shoot to be held on Wednesday next, the new "1936" targets will be in use for the first time, and it will be interesting to see what, if any, changes in the scoring occur. In view of the fact that for the past few months, the targets in use have been of the "1929" dimensions, which vary very little from those now to be adopted, it is not anticipated that any marked differences will be made.

The leading scores made on Saturday afternoon, were as follows:—

	S.R. (B)
	Score at 200 yds.	Score at 300 yds.	Score at 500 yds.	Aggregate Score

JOCK McAVOY TO FIGHT JOHN LEWIS

Petersen-Harvey Title Bout Fixed For Jan. 29

London, Nov. 28.—Jimmy Johnston, who is still the manager and match-maker at the Garden, has announced that Jock McAvoy will be matched with John Henry Lewis, the negro, who is the present light-heavy-weight champion of the world.

This should act as a spur on McAvoy, whose last endeavour to gain a world's title was when he met Thill.

The warmest admirers of McAvoy—and there are thousands in Lancashire—admit that he is a little handicapped by the fact that he has so little experience of foreign rings.

He has been a British champion for years, but it is an oddity that even his London fights can nearly be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The perilous time for him will be in the opening rounds. American referees have a habit of gingering up the contestants from the first going.

If it is part of McAvoy's tactics to feel out his opponent before he begins to hit out at his hardest he may become worried.

McAvoy can be splendidly aggressive when he is in the mood, but he has shown more than once that it takes him a somewhat long time to get over the effects of a big punch.

In boxing ability he is superior to McCoy, who is one of the rip-and-tear brigade, but it will be surprising to me if clever boxing enters into the affair to any extent.

American spectators, as well as American officials, constantly demand action, but it is fortunate for McAvoy that he can supply this when it is needed.

He will be giving away weight and reach, but if he can weather the early rounds he should at least provide an exhibition that will prove to his opponent that he has been in a battle.

McCoy's real name, by the way, is Florian de Brasseur.

He states he has been beaten once only—by Vince Dundee, who twice conquered Len Harvey.

LOUGHNAN'S NEXT

Tommy Loughnan, with whom I spent part of last Sunday evening—I know no boxer more entertaining or with a finer flow of conversation—denies the rumours that he will shortly be returning to the United States, writes

NEW NURSING HOME

Opening Ceremony Largely Attended

In the absence of the Portuguese Consul, who was unable to attend, owing to unavoidable circumstances, Mr. F. P. de V. Soares of the Portuguese Consulate, performed the opening ceremony of the new Kowloon Nursing Home, which is situated in No. 180, Austin Road, near the Gun Club Hill at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

There were over 200 guests present, many of whom were connected with the medical profession. The Filipino String Band attended to grace the occasion with its delightful music.

Speaking in his native tongue, Mr. F. P. de V. Soares expressed regret at the absence of the Consul, and after lauding the ability and worth of the well-known lady medico, Mrs. M. E. de Souza Remedios, proprietress of the institution Mr. Soares declared the new Kowloon Nursing Home open and wished it every success.

MR. TSE'S SPEECH

After Mr. Soares had spoken, Mr. Tse Tsan Tai, addressing the gathering, said:—

Mr. Soares, Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is one of the greatest pleasures of my life to be able to attend this function, and it is most gratifying to see so many friends present to-day.

Mrs. M. E. de Souza Remedios is an old friend of our family, and I first got to know of her splendid work and services in the cause of suffering humanity through my brother Thomas in Shanghai.

Besides, I am an old friend of Mrs. Remedios's younger brother, Mr. A. M. de Souza, whom I am delighted to see here to-day, as we were both colleagues in the Public Works Department of Hong Kong some forty years ago, and for his long and faithful services, he has recently been deservedly decorated with the I.S.O.

Mrs. Remedios's fame as an able and experienced doctor and nurse is a household word in Shanghai, and I am told that her wide circle of friends and clients, both European and Chinese are anxious for her return.

KOWLOON FORTUNATE

Kowloon is, therefore, fortunate in retaining the valuable services of Mrs. Remedios, as Head of the Kowloon Nursing Home.

Kowloon, as you all are aware, is an important and rapidly growing suburb of the Colony, and this Nursing Home is established just in time to supply a long-felt want. And, it is my hope, and I am sure the hope of all present here to-day, that the Nursing Home will have a long and useful career of public service before it.

Mrs. Remedios is the inventor of "Salvo" that wonderful painless cure for "Grave," which dispenses with the surgeon's knife, and also the valuable remedy for the certain cure of the demoralizing and distressing "Opium Smoking Habit."

Besides, she has a wide experience in the treatment and cure of female ailments and typhoid, malaria, sprue, Neuroderma, and other diseases.

I understand that the Kowloon Nursing Home is open to and at the service of all Foreign and Chinese Medical Practitioners in the Colony, and I am sure that under the watchful guidance and care of Dr. Barnes and Dr. Roza, assisted by the galaxy of qualified and experienced nurses, whom I see before me, the Nursing Home will prosper and grow exceedingly and become an institution that Kowloon should be proud of.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I ask you all to join me in wishing health and long-life to Mrs. Remedios, and success and prosperity to the Kowloon Nursing Home. (applause).

THE TOAST

Dr. C. F. X. Roza replied on behalf of Mrs. Remedios and members and staff of the Nursing Home. A toast to the success of the establishment was then drunk and after the ceremony, a group photograph was also taken.

It is understood that Mrs. Remedios returned recently from Shanghai, where her work and services in the cause of suffering humanity are gratefully remembered by a wide circle of European and Chinese friends and clients.

The new Kowloon Nursing Home is a two-storied building with big spacious rooms and wide verandahs, and also a fine big grassy

HERR HITLER & RE-ARMAMENT

MEETING WITH SIR E. PHIPPS

Air Pact Talks

Berlin, Dec. 15. In keeping with the Nazi policy of concealing important news from the German public until it has already appeared in the Foreign Press, Sir Eric Phipps's visit to Chancellor Hitler—reported in the London newspapers this morning—was not announced here until this afternoon, when the German Press Agency issued a short communique:—

"Yesterday the Leader received the British Ambassador in the presence of the German Foreign Minister. The possibility of arms limitation and the already reported Anglo-French proposal for an air pact between the Locarno Powers was discussed in frank and open conversation."

Not one word of Press comment appears on this important meeting. In Germany there is only one official opinion on foreign policy and armament problems: that of Herr Hitler. Recent German Press comment pointed out that there has been no change in this country's attitude towards the problem of arms limitation since the Leader made his Reichstag speech on May 21.

Germany has not completed her gigantic re-armament programme, which is proceeding at the swiftest pace possible to a country forced to buy vital raw materials abroad. It is not known how long complete rearmament will take, but it is obvious that it must proceed much further before being regarded as sufficient.

"NATIONAL INTERESTS"

In these circumstances, therefore, there is something fantastic about Germany discussing proposals for arms limitation.

The German argument is that all agreements on armament limitation must of necessity take into account vital national interest, which means, in reality, that Germany regards herself as justified in arming heavily owing to her so-called "open position" in the heart of Europe.

Two stock themes are brought out also in this connection: the Franco-Soviet Pact, which evokes Teutonic hysteria, and the vast armaments of France and Soviet Russia.

Nor has Herr Hitler forgotten the Stresa front, and he is naturally not disposed to take his place in a group of nations until the shame of Stresa is wiped out in some manner. Indeed, it is clear from various indications that in the matter of armaments Herr Hitler's attitude has stiffened somewhat during the past few months.

There are various reasons for this. The political events of the past few months have obviously convinced the Leader that only a highly armed State can hold her own in the modern world.

THE LEAGUE AND ITALY

Chancellor Hitler has watched with keen interest the League conflict over Italy, and while Germany is officially neutral, it has not been without its effect on the Chancellor's attitude towards armaments.

The Air Pact proposal, of course, is welcomed here, for ever since it was first mooted Germany has been enthusiastic about it. Judging by the tremendous German Air Ministry now being built in Berlin, the future German air force is to be simply staggering in size.

Thus the German Government would welcome a pact which would not only give her freedom to build up a huge air force, but would at the same time calm the fears of both England and France.

The Air Pact has another attractive side: it excludes Soviet Russia, and thus takes its place beside the naval agreement with England as a political agreement concluded by Germany with those Great Powers whose friendship she wishes to win.

lawn suitable for walking exercise and sun-bathing. The building is built on rising ground, and is situated in one of the finest and healthiest localities of the Kowloon Peninsula.

It is fronted by wide and spacious roads free from noisy traffic, and is open to the sea breeze from Lyemooon Pass, and with its quiet and peaceful surroundings, is an ideal site for a Nursing Home.

THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL

The many thousands of filmgoers who plead for the employment of producers of England's natural beauty will surely have their wishes gratified when they see Alexander Korda's new picture "The Scarlet Pimpernel". It is showing at the Star Theatre this week.

Through the kindness of the 1934 summer weather, Director Harold Young was able to take many of the scenes in this film in the open air, and a number of beautiful locations, providing back-grounds of great pictorial charm, were used.

The exterior scenes have some remarkably beautiful and unusual cloud effects. Puffy white clouds against a blue sky have been well photographed by Harold Rosson with the use of some special filters. Such effects can seldom, if ever, be obtained in Hollywood where the sky is usually clear blue.

The world's tallest and greatest building plays a featured role on the screen in Remington's spectacular drama "Manhattan Tower", next attraction at the Queen's Theatre.

The Empire State Building in New York was the inspiration for this melodrama, and included in it are some breath-taking shots of the modern cathedral of commerce as well as interior photography and sets apparently constructed in authentic detail with the modernistic skyscraper as a pattern. Mary Brian, Irene Rich, James Hall, Hale Hamilton and Noel Francis head the brilliant assemblage of "green artists" cast in "Manhattan Tower".

"BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936"

The long-awaited musical extravaganza "Broadway Melody of 1936" opened its run in the Colony and was shown at the King's Theatre as well as the Alhambra packed houses over the week-end.

Those who had been waiting to see this grand show of shows were certainly delighted with this new production of "Broadway Melody." The splendid music and the wonderful step dancing of Miss Eleanor Powell goes to make this musical one of the best pictures of the day.

As leading lady in the film Miss Powell is superb and since her small role in George White's Scandals has improved beyond recognition. Besides her wonderful tap dancing Miss Powell is of a charming personality and has a splendid voice which she uses to full advantage in this picture.

Headed by Jack Benny the cast includes such notables as Robert Taylor, Una Merkel and Nick Long, world famous acrobatic dancer. "Broadway Melody" is certainly a first rate musical, and I strongly recommend all who have not seen it as yet to pay a visit to the show.—S.J.A.

Intricate, acrobatic routines, which still are simple enough to learn after seeing them once, constitute the latest trend in screen dancing.

So says Dance Director Dave Gould, who "introduces" such a dance, "Broadway Rhythm," in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Broadway Melody of 1936" now playing at the King's and Alhambra Theatres.

"Musical pictures are making people dance conscious," says Gould. "Therefore they want to see screen dances simple enough to be copied after a few days of practicing; yet they want the dances to appear intricate and difficult."

"It takes twice as long to create a dance of this type because of the illusion that must be stressed. "Broadway Rhythm" embodies the principle of simplicity and gives the appearance of being exceedingly difficult."

"ESCAPE ME NEVER"

"Escape Me Never," the film of Margaret Kennedy's play will have a special presentation at the King's Theatre on Wednesday.

Built around the personality of the star as no other of her films has been, "Escape Me Never" should provide an even better medium for Bergner's individual art than the original play.

The adaptation was done by Margaret Kennedy herself in collaboration with Carl Zuckmeyer, the well-known German dramatist, whilst direction was in the hands of Dr. Paul Czinner, Miss Bergner's husband and the one man who completely understands this strange little genius in all her moods.

In the film there is one scene which, owing to the limitations of a small stage, did not appear in the original production. This is the ballet, a spectacular affair.

BLOSSOM TIME

At The Queen's

"Blossom Time" starring the great tenor Richard Tauber in a masterpiece of melodic joy should draw a good house at the Queen's Theatre. In it Tauber as a poor teacher and composer falls in love with the landlord's daughter to find that she is in love with another who in turn is tied to another titled lady by court rules. With the idea of getting enough money to marry Vicki, Tauber stages a concert and after being booed and hissed turned out to be a great success. Though his machinations he was able to get Rudi and Vicki married and reunited the Crown Princess to her old love.

Jane Baxter plays the part of Vicki to perfection, while Rudi, the Count, is played by Carl Esmond. The picture is not devoid of its humorous side. The cast ably carries through a story that moves slowly along but what impresses most in this picture is the excellent singing of Richard Tauber, whose exquisite voice is heard to good advantage. His renderings of "Red Rose" and "Ave Maria" are indeed worth hearing. If for no other reason but to hear the great tenor sing, the picture is worth seeing.—O

"Blossom Time" the story of which is a new version of the life of Franz Schubert, presents in the star role, in his first British Picture, the world famous "Golden Voiced" tenor, Richard Tauber, who with side whiskers and (having pocketed his famous monocle) a pair of specially made spectacles similar to those worn by Schubert in 1826, bears a most remarkable resemblance to the famous composer. Tauber who prefers to sing and talk in German, has already made five talkies in German. "Blossom Time," now showing at the Queen's Theatre is a Big Picture, set in grand style, no care, artistry or expense has been spared to capture the spirit and fascinating atmosphere in old Vienna. Paul Stien has excelled, and touches of genius are revealed in the manner in which many effects have been produced.

MISS HELEN MACKINNON MARRIES IN LONDON

Church Ceremony

London, Dec. 13.
A gown of palest shell-pink velvet was worn by Miss Helen Mackinnon, the only daughter of Mr and Mrs Alpin D. Mackinnon, and granddaughter of the late Mr Robert Law, of Glasgow, when she was the bride in London yesterday of Dr Paul Alexander, the elder son of Dr and Mrs K. Alexander, of the Old Lodge, Byfleet.

The bride is also closely connected with Mackinnon of Mackinnon and is a niece of Mr Justice Mackinnon and Sir Percy Mackinnon.

The ceremony took place at St Mark's Church, North Audley Street. The master of the temple conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. F. S. L. Fitzgeorge and the Rev. G. C. Hardy. Mr James Alexander accompanied his brother as best man.

FOUR ATTENDANTS

The bride robe was cut on simple lines, relying on the beautiful tone of the material for the entire effect.

A matron of honour, Mrs Jack Tomlinson, and three grown-up bridesmaids followed the bride to the altar. They were Miss Mollie Alexander (sister of the bridegroom) and Miss Allie Watson and Miss Julia Mackinnon (cousins of the bride).

Their charming gowns of heavy crepe were in a pretty shade of deep china-blue.

After the ceremony the guests assembled at Sunderland House, Curzon Street, Mayfair, for the wedding reception, and later in the afternoon bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon, which is to be spent abroad.

U. S. NEUTRALITY BILL

Washington, Jan. 3.
A permanent Neutrality Bill giving the President of the United States discretionary powers to place an embargo on war materials, and retaining the present obligatory embargo on actual implements of war, has been introduced into the House of Representatives by Mr. Samuel D. McReynolds, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Mr. McReynolds said the Bill is satisfactory to the Administration and had been drafted after long conferences with the President and State Department officials.

Under the Bill the embargo which the President will be empowered to impose on the shipment of materials used for war purposes would restrict exports to all belligerents to ordinary peace time quantities.

Food and medical supplies would be specifically exempted, Mr. McReynolds added. He would submit an amendment, however, exempting American countries at war with non-American countries from the mandatory arms embargo.

The Bill generally bans financial transactions with belligerent countries.

The measure, explains the Congressman, is specifically aimed at enacting into law the President's policy that all trade with belligerents is at the traders' own risk.

Simultaneously Senator Key Pittman introduced into the Senate a similar bill, which, however, makes it obligatory for the President to place an embargo upon all exports to belligerents exceeding peace-time quantities.—Reuter.

DRASTIC MEASURE
Washington, Jan. 3.
A third, and most drastic, Neutrality Bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Ludlow, Indiana representative. It proposed to prohibit American exports or loans of any kind to belligerents upon the outbreak of war.—Reuter.

Rembrandt's "Jan Six" Etching

BOUGHT FOR £2,730

London, Dec. 14.
Backed by a client ready to pay any price for the signed second state of Rembrandt's close friend, Jan Six, the Colnaghis gave £2,730 (90,000 florins) at Amsterdam in October, 1923, to win it. When the collection of this client, the late Ernest C. Innes, was offered at Christie's yesterday, the Colnaghis succeeded again, but this time their winning price was 2,600 guineas. This must be accounted a quite adequate valuation of an etching, examples of which previously to 1923 had never brought more than £600 (in 1927).

The most sanguine auction "fan" did not expect that the etching's Amsterdam price would be approached. Perhaps the hopes of some were encouraged by Mr. De Bruyn's formidable opening bid of 2,500 guineas, but after the Colnaghis capped it with the single advance to 2,600 guineas all was over. A reproduction of the Jan Six was given in "The Daily Telegraph," Nov. 8.

Other Rembrandt etchings in this Innes collection were "The Three Trees," 540 guineas (Colnaghis); "Christ Crucified," fourth state, 480 guineas (Gulot), who gave 420 guineas for "The Presentation in the Temple."

The Innes pictures then proceeded to bring the total of the day to £21,121. As anticipated, the Gainsborough portrait of Richard Otley brought the highest price, 1,800 guineas, given by the private collector, bidding in person, Mr. A. Jurgens.

When the early portrait by Gainsborough of Samuel Kildersleepe, town clerk of Ipswich and father of the painter's life-long friend, had been sold for 150

KING TO VISIT EASTBOURNE

London, Jan. 3.
It is expected that Their Majesties the King and Queen will again visit Eastbourne this year, probably arriving in the latter half of February.

The King went to Eastbourne last spring on medical advice, and was stated to have benefited by his stay. Their Majesties will go to Compton Place, the Duke of Devonshire's residence, and the visit may last a little over a month.—British Wireless.

guineas, the auctioneer, Mr. Gordon Hannan, announced that with timely aid of the National Art Collections Fund, the portrait would join the Ipswich Museum.

A Rembrandt portrait of an old lady (attributed formerly to his follower, Ferdinand Bol) won third-place honours in realising 1,250 guineas (Collings). Mr. Gerald Agnew topped this by giving 1,200 guineas for a very fine "Ferry Boat" scene by Salomon van Ruysdael.

NEW TERRITORIES AGRICULTURAL SHOW

VARIETIES OF PRODUCE ON EXHIBITION

Sir Elly Kadoorie Gives Support

More than 6,000 exhibits were on view on Saturday when the New Territories Agricultural Association at Sheung Shui District held their ninth Annual agricultural exhibition. The show was a great success in every way and although four more stalls were added these were unable to cope with the number of exhibits which totalled to almost 400 in number.

Those who visited the exhibition had nothing but words of praise for the produce on view and the foreigners in particular were very much impressed by the foreign vegetables which they were surprised to find among the exhibits. Other exhibits like grain, rice and other cereals were so numerous that some of it had to be put under table space for view.

The exhibition was officially opened by Mr. Lawrence Kadoorie at 2.30 p.m. but prior to the opening, a large crowd had gathered around its precincts at about 10.30 a.m. and very enthusiastically admired the exhibits.

Attractive displays, not for competition, were again made by Lady Ho Tung, Hong Lok Yuen, the Botanical and Forestry Department and the students of the Tat Tak School, respectively.

Lady Ho Tung's stall displayed numerous samples of fruit and vegetables, all of which were being grown on her farm, the Tung Ying Hok Po. Among her outstanding exhibits were Chinese leeks, foreign cabbages and

A vast improvement was seen in the quality of the display of the Tat Tak School, their oranges being the most outstanding exhibit. On their stall, the two shields, one presented by Lady Ho Tung in 1932 and the other presented by Mr. Horace Kadoorie in January 1934, won in competition by the school, were once again shown.

REV. WELLS' ADDRESS
In his opening address the Rev. H. R. Wells said:—

Mr. Kadoorie, ladies and gentlemen:—We are highly honoured to-day by your presence at the opening of this show. It is a great pleasure to have one of your family to visit us. The family name is famous for many good institutions in Hong Kong and elsewhere.

"This is the ninth consecutive annual show of fruits and vegetables produced in the New Territories, and we are quite sure that these shows do good in several ways. Better articles are produced year by year and we are informed that the quantity of agricultural products apart from rice has increased enormously.

"For over three years we have had the services of a man who has been a great helper of farmers. He is not afraid of hard work and has had considerable experience in many directions, and many farmers profess to have secured great benefit from his labours. I refer to Mr. Lam Shalim, who is with us to-day.

"For nine years we have had some steadfast helpers on the Committees and a large number of interested people have given much time and thought to bettering the local conditions. Almost every imaginable subject connected with agriculture has been broached and discussed from time to time.

STUDENTS INTERESTED
"Many have been dropped as not being suitable to our present state of development, but many are constantly being received.

"Some vocational training has been attempted in connection with a number of schools in various parts of the New Territories, and this has aroused considerable interest among the students. The school at Ping Shan with which Mr. Tang Yau-shan is connected produces some excellent articles which make a special exhibit. This should have great results in the next generation.

"We have lately been able to engage a young man who has had considerable advantages in being trained in the Ling Nan Agricultural Middle School at Canton, and Mr. Li Shu-ying has given much valuable advice about the use of the land leased to the Association by the kindness of the Government, where we hope soon to have a building of our own and receive young men as students from the villages for training in soil examination, seed testing, and the use of fertilizers, as well as the introduction of, or experimentation with, new types of vegetables and fruits.

WATER AND FERTILISERS
"It is hoped that the young men will also receive instruction in methods of dealing with insect pests which are said to eat half the crops in China. If the loss can be reduced by one half it should cause the people to be much better off for food than they are at present.

"Two perennial subjects are water and fertilizers. Any advice and help in increasing the water supply will prove of immense value to New Territory agriculturists, who are said to lose hundreds of thousands of dollars in the dry seasons. If we could provide more water for farming purposes we might well improve the conditions of life all through the Territory, though these are some places where the people seem to have enough water. A sub-Committee has this important topic under consideration.

"It is stated that if we could get supplies of manure and refuse on to the New Territory the land would become extremely fertile. This subject has been discussed frequently, but so far no workable method for securing this desirable object has been produced. It would probably cost a much larger sum than we can secure at present.

CO-OPERATIVE SCHEME
"We are grateful to the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga for his efforts to secure sales of local products at Kowloon, but so far nothing tangible has resulted.

"Some day fresh and succulent vegetables and fresh eggs will be sold in the place now designated by Mr. Braga. Co-operative schemes may be brought forward in Hong Kong, but the New Territory villagers do not yet seem ready for such a scheme.

"Poultry farming is on the increase, but unfortunately disease attacks the fowls from time to time, and this appears to be one of the times. If this type of disease could be studied and remedies found, it would be a great boon to the people.

PROGRESS SLOW

"We cannot close without referring to Sir Robert and Lady Ho Tung, who have done so much for us in the past and to whom we look for advice and help in the future. Lady Ho Tung yearly presents a very fine show of local products without competing for the prizes. This earns our constant gratitude. Other large farmers also show their products freely, and to them our thanks are due.

"While progress seems slow, it is necessary to be patient and wait for the results of persevering and patient labour and service."

OPENING SPEECH

Addressing the gathering, Mr. Lawrence Kadoorie said:—

Mr. Wells, Ladies and Gentlemen,
I thank you for your invitation to open this show which is, I believe, the ninth show which you have held year after year in uninterrupted succession.

Your promoters, as well as exhibitors and patrons are to be congratulated upon the recurring annual success of this excellent display of the vegetable produce of the New Territories.

This annual Agricultural show held under the auspices of your Association, cannot fail to bring material benefits to the farmers of these Territories and to consumers of your large and improving variety of produce.

It is gratifying to feel that your Association has long ago come to be regarded as a permanent institution of the New Territories.

Practical support from the Government of this Colony in the grant of the use of a piece of ground approximating five acres in area, is welcome evidence that your efforts are appreciated by those in authority. We have heard from your Chairman that the land leased to you is to be used not only for the growing of vegetables, for which you find a ready market in Hong Kong and Kowloon, but also for experimental purposes, where different soils, seeds and fertilizers, may be tested with a view to general and beneficial adoption. For some time past your Association's instructional assistant has given seeds to farmers willing to use them under his guidance, also a large number of visits have been paid to schools where the young students grow vegetables under his direction.

Insect Pests

It is most unfortunate that last year your crops were attacked by insect pests. I understand that experiments are being made with a view to the destruction of these pests, and am confident enough to think that in the Government of this Colony, which takes a very real and kindly interest in the development of the New Territories especially in the direction of its agricultural industries, you will find the technical assistance you need in all matters relating to the protection and the growing of the crops on which your livelihood depends.

It is pleasing to be informed that you have formed a building sub-committee to go into the question of planning and erecting suitable headquarters for the work of the Association and for the resort in social and business intercourse of its farmer members.

From a monetary point of view, such a building would be the means of saving hundreds of dollars yearly, now spent for the erection of a makeshift similar to that in which your exhibits are housed this afternoon.

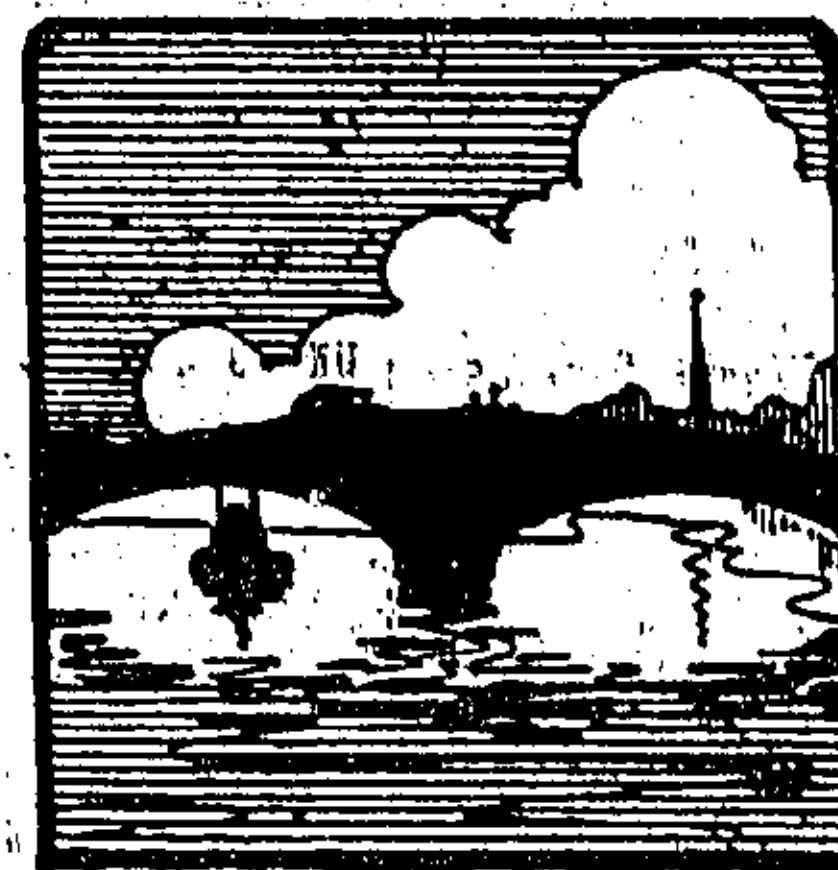

That your Committee should meet with complete success and that the erection of a suitable building for the Association will become an accomplished fact before very long, is, I feel sure, the earnest hope and wish of all those who have watched the founding, growth and development of your Association with the interest which it certainly deserves.

A Regular Visitor

There are those amongst the leading residents of this Colony whose interests in the New Territories are very real and extensive, and it is to be expected that they will assist in the laudable project you have before you.

I have heard it stated that the recent Governor of the Colony was very keen on "co-operation" and it is my very sincere wish that you will then lend all the resources within your power to make of

ALLEGED THEFT

Maid-servant Held

One week's remand was granted by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday in the case of Mok Lai Kuen, a 29-year-old maid servant employed at the 'Moi Fong Girls' School, No. 1 Babbington Path, when she was charged with the theft of $4,000 in Shanghai banknotes, one satin coat, one white fox fur, one tiger fur, and a silk quilt, the property of Ng Man Chi, the principal of the school, sometime between November and December last. Defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge.

In asking a week's remand Detective Sgt. Baldwin stated that the theft was only discovered on December 27 and that another person thought to be also connected with the theft is at present in custody of the Canton Authorities.

five birds. It is to be hoped that, with expert advice, the difficulties that have been met with will be overcome, and poultry rearing may develop into an important feature of the Association's work.

Sir Elly Kadoorie's Interest
When the annual agricultural show was inaugurated, your first patron, Sir Cecil Clementi, G.C.M.G., presented a prize in the shape of a Chinese tablet to be won by the District securing the largest number of prizes for their exhibits.

The prize was tenable for one year and, under certain conditions, could be won outright in five years. The tablet was to be exhibited in the ancestral hall of the District securing the highest award.

SAFER FLYING

The aid of the scientist is being actively canvassed in evolving ways and means of counteracting what is regarded as one of the chief dangers to which aviation is exposed—the accretion of ice on the wings of aeroplanes, believed to be the cause of the latest flying disaster in this country. British inventive minds are working towards this goal, and certain methods have recently been brought to the notice of the Air Ministry. The most effective system to date is, I understand, a device known as the "anticer," which ensures that the leading edges of aeroplane wings are constantly supplied with a new anti-freezing chemical led in tubes from the cockpit under pressure to the more exposed parts. Tests under winter conditions have demonstrated the effectiveness of this apparatus, but I am told that other systems are to be tried out shortly.

OIL QUEST IN ROSS-SHIRE

In a talk to-day with Mr. Norman M. Dudgeon, chairman of the company which is to start drilling operations next month on the oil field at Worth, Sussex, I learned that the company already has a certain amount of information from its geological advisers regarding the prospects of finding oil in commercial quantities in Ross-shire. While these preliminary reports are not such as to encourage any great optimism about the possibilities of Ross-shire's oil resources, they indicate that a fuller investigation might prove worth while.

LIGHTING NEW EARL'S COURT

When completed next year the new Earl's Court Exhibition will be the largest permanent display and arts centre in the world to be dependent for its lighting power and heating wholly upon electricity. The site under development covers about 20 acres, over six of which are required for the main building. Some 5,000,000 units a year will be supplied from the new generating station at Fulham for lighting and power purposes alone, while the heating of the vast pavilion will account for between 3,000,000 and 11,000,000 units annually. Some indication of the aggregate consumption of the new Earl's Court may be obtained from the fact that it is equivalent to the needs of a town the size of Greenock. A thermal storage plant, automatic in operation, provides for the air conditioning of the building and for the heating of a big swimming pool, which is feature of the sports centre.

A CHINESE LUNCH

Chinese dishes will figure largely on the menu at a literary luncheon which the Chinese Ambassador is to attend here next Thursday. Chop sticks will be provided for guests who can use them. The influence of the Chinese Art Exhibition has extended to various fields of fashion, but this is the first indication that it is also impinging, however slightly, on the culinary art. Mr. Laurence Binyon is to address the gathering on "Chinese art." Professor Lascelles Abercrombie will speak on "Chinese culture," and Mr. Leigh Ashton, who was responsible for organising the exhibition at Burlington House, is also on the list of speakers.

ADELPHI'S WINE CELLARS

A start is to be made shortly with emptying one of the world's largest wine cellars, or collection of cellars—those spacious arched vaults, over which stands Adelphi Terrace, the home for many years of famous literary figures. Sir James Barrie among them. Under a demolition order the Adelphi has to go, and so have the massive supporting arches, constructed in the eighteenth century to the designs of the Scottish brothers Adam. In the dark, cool recesses there are, I am told, hundreds of thousands of bottles of wine, for which accommodation must be found elsewhere before March. The "fitting" is a highly skilled job, as rough handling would affect some of the older vintages that have mellowed to perfection in the Adelphi vaults, where there is a complete absence of vibration.

NEW ROAD PROGRAMME

The president of the Safety First Association gave me some particulars to-day of the ambitious programme outlined for next year, by which they hope to reduce road accidents by at least 10 per cent. The plans are based on district rather than national lines, it being the society's contention that road instruction, like charity, should begin at home, and more especially instruction in the points of the Highway Code, disregard of which is, they affirm, largely responsible for the heavy road toll. In an endeavour to spread the gospel of safety-consciousness 100 new poster designs will be issued next year, and the film medium is to be made further use of.

PLASTIC MATERIALS FOR AIRCRAFT

The question of developing suitable forms of British-made plastic materials for use in the production of aircraft was fully discussed at a conference here yesterday between representatives of the Institute of Plastics and leaders of the aircraft industry. It was generally agreed that the plastics industry will eventually become of great assistance in aircraft production, and important developments are likely to follow when a closer practical co-operation between the two industries is being. It is believed that a wider use of plastic materials would reduce the amount of skilled labour required in the aircraft factories.

TRANSATLANTIC AIR SERVICE

Jointly operated by Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways, the proposed Transatlantic air service will be a strictly Anglo-American pioneering effort, but there are already indications that some other European Powers are anxious to become associated with it. According to reports from The Hague the Royal Dutch Air Lines have reached an agreement with Pan-American Airways to co-operate in the working of the North Atlantic air line—exactly in what way is not stated. Britain and America, however, between them hold the "master cards" which will count in developing this route as a commercial proposition. The key points on the route are British, and the "pay loads" will be the British and American mails.

RAIL RESERVATIONS

It has long been possible to book one's seat in advance on the express trains between Scotland and the South, but now the London and N.E. Company has put the booking system on a comprehensive basis, covering all mainline trains of importance. The railway booking system to be centralised at King's Cross is, in fact, a convenient adaptation of the theatre seat method. Throughout London there will be nearly 200 auxiliary ticket agencies at which seats can be reserved for the prospective traveller, who will be shown on a plan the exact position he is to occupy. In connection with the arrangements a new public inquiry office is being erected at King's Cross on the main departure platform for Scotland, and I understand that in due course similar facilities for sea-bookings will become available at Glasgow and Edinburgh.

OFFICERS' TRADE UNION

I hear that members of the Officers' (Merchant Navy) Federation have accorded "overwhelming support" to the proposals put before them for the adoption of a trade unionist policy. The full results of the canvass of opinion will not be known until the end of this month, but it is clear that a mandate for changing the federation's character has been obtained, and an official statement on the position with an indication of the future line of action is expected shortly. The federation, I understand, will press for a public inquiry into the adequacy of the present Merchant Shipping Acts.

QUEEN MARY FILM

In the lecture hall of the Institute of Marine Engineers, lying in the shadow of the Tower of London, several hundred students of this and earlier generations gathered to-night to see a Cunard-White Star Line film devoted to the subject of the Queen Mary. The technically minded audience enjoyed the experience, but many must have regretted that more was not made of a great opportunity. Instead of the epic picture the building and launching of the great liner might have been, it was an episodic repetitive story taken in somewhat haphazard fashion. At times, however, the subject triumphed over its treatment—for example, in one "shot" of the cliff-like bow—but generally speaking it might have been the film story of quite an ordinary ship.

"GOOSEFEATHER BED"

Lady Eleanor Smith, in collaboration with Frances Doble, has written a drama entitled "Goosefeather Bed." This will be seen at the Embassy Theatre shortly, when it is expected to bring Jose Collins back to the London stage. Like much of Lady Eleanor's earlier work, the new play concerns the ways and wiles of actresses, her heroine being a Roman girl who married into an ordinary British family with odd results. It is found that the affairs of Egypt do

Sir Cecil Clementi's prize has now been won outright, so to preserve the continuity of this award my father, Sir Elly Kadoorie, K.B.E., has offered a similar prize with conditions for competition identical with those laid down by the former distinguished donor.

Sir Elly Kadoorie has also, to encourage the farmers, offered three prizes of small money values coupled with gifts of vegetable seeds, with a view to their being utilized for growing better and more varieties of vegetables in future.

I should also like to mention that during the past two years Lady Ho Tung has made a special exhibit of many products, not for competition, but more for the education of local farmers, so that they may see the possibilities of local production.

Farmers of the New Territories; yours is an enterprise that is deserving of every support, and I trust that the interest which this annual show arouses in the Colony will be continued, fostered and further developed.

The New Territories will, I hope, in the near future provide the Colony with a good supply of vegetables, as well as eggs and poultry. That this produce will be appreciated by our fellow citizens is certain, and I am confident that you may rely on them for their wholehearted co-operation and support.

In conclusion, may I take this opportunity to wish you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and may the New Territories be blessed with an abundant harvest during 1936.

Lubricating Oils From Coal

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE

London, Dec. 13.

The production of lubricating oils from coal or coal products was discussed in a paper given yesterday by Professor A. W. Nash, of Birmingham University, at a meeting of the Institute of Fuel.

Professor Nash pointed out that while much work had been done on the conversion of coal into liquid motor fuels comparatively little attention has been given to the production of lubricating oils from coal. The annual consumption of lubricating oils in the country is of the order of 120,000,000 gallons, of which some 30 per cent is used as motor lubricants.

Synthetic oils had been, he said, prepared from coal products in the laboratories of the Department of Petroleum Technology of Birmingham University, and these were in some respects superior to lubricants prepared from naturally occurring petroleum oils.

The direct production of good lubricating oils from coal was problematical, but more promising materials were found in the residual gases and liquids left by the carbonisation of coal at high and low temperatures. The residual coke from such processes could also be converted into gas containing carbon monoxide and hydrogen, which can be treated to give bituminous and paraffinic substances, from which good lubricants can be synthesised.

Work carried out by Professor Nash and his collaborators had proved that, with the aid of a metallic aluminium catalyst, high-grade lubricating oils may be prepared by the condensation of aromatic hydrocarbon oils with chlorinated paraffinic oils. Lubricating oils could also be prepared from ethylene gas, which is a constituent of coal gas, and can be obtained in much greater yield by cracking coal tars.

not mingle easily with those of England. Playgoers will remember that Miss Doble, the writer's partner, had a leading role in "Ballerina." James Briddle's onset play, "The Tragic Muse," is, I hear, to be among the Christmas attractions at the Croydon Repertory Theatre—one of the most progressive playhouses in Outer London. The piece is new to Southern audiences, and its style should act as a fine contrast to the rest of the programme, an adaptation of "A Christmas Carol."

URBAN COUNCIL MEETING

Scavenging By-Laws Amendment

The following are the orders for the day for tomorrow's meeting of Urban Council:

1. Minute by the Chairman relative to the Standing Orders and Rules of Debate.

2. Minute by the Chairman relative to the proposed constitution of the new Select Committees.

3. The Chairman, pursuant to notice, will move:—

"That in exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the Public Health (Food) Ordinance, 1935, the Urban Council makes the following amendment of the by-laws under the heading 'Markets' and sub-heading 'Market Stalls' set forth in Schedule to the above-mentioned Ordinance:—"

Amendment

The following additional by-law is inserted immediately after by-law 40:—

"40A. No flesh of any animal slaughtered in the Government slaughter-house at Sai Wan Ho, shall be exposed for sale in any in the Colony other than the markets at Quarry Bay, Sai Wan Ho and Shaukiwan and no flesh of any animal slaughtered in the Government Slaughter-house at Aberdeen shall be exposed for sale in any market in the Colony other than the market at Aberdeen."

Scavenging

4. The Chairman, pursuant to notice, will move:—

"That in exercise of the powers conferred by section 4 (iv) of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, 1935 the Urban Council makes the following amendment to the by-laws under the heading 'Scavenging' contained in Schedule A to the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, 1935:—"

Amendment

By-law No. 5 is rescinded and the following by-law is substituted therefore:—

"5. (1) The occupier of any domestic building, or the occupier or principal tenant, as the case may be, of any flat or floor of a domestic building when such flat or floor is let as a separate tenancy, and the occupier of any other premises situated within any of the districts specified in By-law No. 3 shall provide and keep in such domestic building, flat, floor or other premises (all of which are in this by-law included in the word 'Premises') a sufficient number of strong substantial movable dust-bins or dust-cans, constructed of impervious material and fitted with closely fitting covers and of a pattern approved by the Council, and shall deposit therein from day to day all refuse which has accumulated in such premises pending removal in accordance with paragraph (1) of this by-law.

(2) He shall at such a time or times as a refuse lorry stops for the collection of refuse at or near his premises daily carry or cause to be carried from his premises all the refuse and other objectionable matter and deposit it or cause it to be deposited in the refuse lorries provided by the Council.

(3) In lieu of the procedure provided by paragraph (1) of this by-law, the Council may require such occupier to empty such dust-bins or dust-cans at least once daily, at such time or times as the Council may appoint, into dust-bins or dust-boats provided by the Council.

(4) He shall also give access to any Sanitary Inspector or other officer or person authorised by the Council for the purpose of scavenging and removing refuse from any part of his premises, or for the purpose of seeing that the provisions of these by-laws are duly complied with, and if the open space appurtenant to such premises be enclosed, the door or gate shall be opened for such purpose whenever required.

(5) No person shall place any dust-can or dust-bin in any public place or remove the contents thereof except in accordance with paragraphs (1) or (3) of this by-law.

(6) No person shall throw or deposit, or permit his servants

CRAIGENGOWER CLUB

Gives Treat To Kiddies

The Annual Children's Day of the Craigengower Cricket Club was held yesterday afternoon and the many kiddies present were given a rollicking time. The proceedings was enlivened by the appearance of Mr. W. Ward who, as the clown, added much to the merriment of the youngsters. The Dance Band of the Royal Marines from H.M.S. Kent rendered selections during the afternoon and at the conclusion of the sports, Mrs. B. W. Bradbury, wife of the president presented the prizes to the successful winners.

Before calling upon Mrs. Bradbury to perform the function, Mr. U. M. Omar, the Hon. Secretary of the Club, in a few words thanked Mrs. Bradbury for performing that function and also thanked Mr. Ward for his services as a clown.

Mrs. Bradbury and Mr. Ward were each presented with a basket of flowers and a souvenir in memory of the occasion.

At the conclusion of the function a cinema show was provided.

THE RESULTS

The following were the results. Boys' Flat Race (4-8 years): (First) Bennie Omar, (Second) N. Razack.

THE WORLD AND ITS NAVIES

From proposals put forward by the representatives of the British Empire, the United States, Japan, France, and Italy at the opening of the Naval Conference, it is evident that all the nations desire naval limitation and disarmament in one form or another, and a prolongation of treaties to prevent any possibility of a race in armaments.

Britain suggests limitation in the number of vessels of each type, and in their individual size and armament. Further, she recommends a reduction in the maximum size and gun-power of capital ships, heavy cruisers, and aircraft carriers permitted by the Washington Treaty, and asks for the abolition of submarines.

Mr. Norman Davis, for the United States, proposes a total reduction of 20 per cent. in the existing Treaty tonnage for Britain, Japan, and his own country, or, if that be found impossible, a lesser reduction. At the same time, it is hoped that France and Italy, which are full parties to the Washington Treaty, but not to that portion of the London Naval Treaty which dealt with cruisers, destroyers and submarines, will see their way to achieve further limitation and reduction.

France, represented by M. Corbin, is favourable to drastic limitations, even of large reductions in the maximum size and gun calibre of warships as at present authorised. But the question of quantitative reduction must be approached with caution, while any treaty entered into must endure for a limited period only. While adhering to the view that submarines are necessary for defensive purposes for humanising the methods of naval warfare.

Signor Grandi, for Italy, is against any return to a system of unrestricted competition, and believes in reduction and limitation. Due to the rapidity of technical development, however, Italy, like France, considers it will not be easy to lay down any rigid solution lasting over a long period of time.

For Japan, Admiral Nagano states that his country wishes for a just and fair agreement which will secure for each country adequate national defence coupled with a reduction in the burden of armaments. She desires a common limit of naval armaments, as low as possible, to be fixed for all countries, and a drastic reduction in offensive forces. It also appears that it is the settled conviction of the Japanese Government that a just and fair agreement giving all-round "equality of security" can only be attained by discarding the ratio system and substituting a common upper limit. Offensive vessels such as capital ships, aircraft carriers and heavy cruisers should either be abolished or drastically reduced and each nation, within her limit (presumably in the total tonnage of her effective fighting ships), should be free to choose the types of vessels best suited to her needs. Japan, however, can never agree to the abolition of submarines which she regards as defensive.

Neither Britain, the United States, France, nor Italy can agree that "equality of security" will be achieved through the Japanese suggestions. The strength of a navy necessary for defensive purposes depends upon the particular needs of each country, in which must be considered her strategic and geographical position, her sources of supply, Japan is interested mainly in the Eastern Pacific, where it is considered sufficient for our needs.

prevalence with the strength allowed her under the Washington Treaty. Britain and the United States, on the other hand, not only have vital interests in the Pacific, but in the other oceans of the world. Even if capital ships, aircraft carriers, or heavy cruisers were abolished or drastically reduced, a "common upper limit" with Japan for the British Empire and the United States would not give them "equality of security."

AGITATION BY STUDENTS

Japanese Keep Close Watch

Shanghai, Jan. 5. Despite the Japanese embassy's reiteration that no official action was being taken against student demonstrations at present, it was noteworthy that student slogans and hand-bills proclaiming "Down with Japanese Imperialism! Revive the boycott" were causing Japanese officials to watch the situation closely.

The Central Government yesterday took official action to hear the demands of Chinese university students, whose participation in anti-autonomy demonstrations have marked the North China political situation during the past two weeks.

In Nanking, General Chiang Kai Shek, President of the Executive Yuan, summoned by telegraph delegates from student factions and presidents of colleges throughout China to convene in the capital January 15.

General Chiang planned to give the college delegation his report on national affairs and hear the opinions of educational leaders regarding the political crisis in which students have been actively participating.

The Generalissimo emphasized good order should be kept pending the Nanking conference.

Meanwhile, Peking students, in a letter to the editor of the Dartmouth College newspaper for release in the American college press, called on United States students to exert their influence to "prevent a terrible period of war and chaos in the Orient."

EFFORTS FAIL

Peking, Jan. 5. Failing in their efforts to persuade the students to resume the class work, most universities in Peking, including Yen Ching, Tsing Hua and the North-western University, have decided to begin the winter vacation from to-morrow.

The Peking University authorities, however, still exert efforts to urge the students to return to their class-room. If their efforts prove successful, the class-work will be resumed to-morrow.

The student delegates have already been elected from various schools to proceed to Nanking to participate in the conference summoned by Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek.

predominance with the strength allowed her under the Washington Treaty. Britain and the United States, on the other hand, not only have vital interests in the Pacific, but in the other oceans of the world. Even if capital ships, aircraft carriers, or heavy cruisers were abolished or drastically reduced, a "common upper limit" with Japan for the British Empire and the United States would not give them "equality of security."

The British strength in capital ships is relative to that of other Powers. Though Britain is strong in favour of reductions in their individual size and gun-power to 25,000 tons and 12-inch guns—even to 22,000 tons and 11-inch guns if the 10,000-ton cruisers with 8-inch guns could gradually be done away with—it is unlikely that if the Washington ratio remain as they are, any less number than fifteen vessels could be accepted. This reason is that the Fleet must be capable, if necessary, of being split up into two portions for operations in different areas. With a proportion of vessels always absent refitting, a smaller number than fifteen would be definitely insufficient for our needs.

If Gossip We Must

(BY "ONLOOKER.")

Nineteen thirty six has certainly come in on a wave of festivity, and no one seemed to think of going to bed till the wee sma' hours on New Year's morning!

There was a particularly cheerful pre-tiffin champagne party in a certain popular residential building "the morning after the night before," and I heard that our hostess had told some of her prospective guests that it would be so convenient for them to drop in around noon on their way home.

We were all delighted to see Mr. and Mrs. Lund back again in the colony, but alas they are going to Shanghai in two or three months, so we must make the most of them while we have them with us.

AT THE ROOF GARDEN

After an extremely bright first tiffin of the New Year in the Gloucester Restaurant at which we talked of every thing from involved economies to the latest style in hats, some of us repaired to the King's Theatre where the Marx Brothers kept us in such fits of laughter that we almost collapsed. By way of refreshment we went in search of tea and more fun at the Hong Kong Hotel Roof Garden. Seldom have I seen such a crowd of afternoon revellers! Lovely little Chinese ladies arrived; each looking more soigné than the last, but I could not recognise a single friend in the crowd so I won't attempt to give any names. There were becoming Chinese dresses of every imaginable hue, and I thought the jewelled hair ornaments a most intriguing fashion.

The inimitable "Cowan and Bailey" sang that popular number "About a Quarter of Nine," and then they introduced a new number from Fred Astaire's film, which is coming shortly. It met with enormous success, and we are determined not to miss the film. Ted and Evelyn danced "Paradise Rhythm" amidst great applause, and later all four artists took part in a rollicking "Naughty Ninety," a number which fairly brought down the house!

AT A COCKTAIL PARTY

(BY "DAWN.")

The cocktail party given by Col. Kirke and the Royal Engineer Officers at the Peninsula Hotel on Thursday was an enormous success and quite the largest party of the season. Col. and Mrs. Kirke were receiving everybody at the entrance to the Roof Garden, Mrs. Kirke very elegant and gracious in green, Brenda was there too in white and looking very sweet. Even in that large room, space was too confined for the crowd and many people from time to time had to dance in the Rose Room. Practically everybody one knew was at the party, but they certainly took a lot of finding! Mrs. Dixon, another of our hostess, I thought, was outstanding in a purple cocktail gown and a smart silver hat. Commodore and Mrs. Sedgwick were there and Wing Commander and Mrs. Keary, the former receiving congratulations from a host of friends.

THE CHIC DRESSES

Col. and Mrs. Lewis I saw too, but by now they are on their way to England and I know they will be much missed here. Mrs. Murray I thought was most striking. She was attired completely in black unrelieved by any colour and a small black hat with a large veil. Pretty Mrs. Russell was in a most becoming shade of pale blue velvet which set off her fairness to perfection. Mrs. Holmes was there with her husband and, favoured pink and brown. Mrs. Maurice Jones, another who the trooper bears away, but only to Singapore, was in a well cut gown of black satin with a small fur cape. Mrs. Felix Joseph was in a cocktail gown of dark green and looked most attractive, but we were sorry not to see her husband also. Mary Taylor was there, and also Joan Downbough in brown and beige. Mrs. Davies, whom we are all glad to have back with us once more and also to see that she is looking so much better, was in pale blue and navy blue with a smart little halo hat of navy. Mrs. Conway I saw in the distance, looking as pretty as usual. Major and Mrs. Campbell were there and Captain and Mrs. Eccles, the latter in a cocktail gown of black and red, and Mrs. Smith favoured also a cocktail ensemble of blue trepe. Col. and Mrs. Blake I noticed both looking extremely well and Major and Mrs. Wolsley were there, also "Jackie Broome." Altogether it was a most enjoyable party and I am sure everybody will remember for a very long time.

The funeral took place at the Chinese Permanent Cemetery on Saturday and was largely attended by friends and relatives. Mrs. Leung is survived by her husband, two sons and four daughters.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Sharp Criticism By German Press SPEECH DESCRIBED AS SERMON TO EUROPE With American Continent As A Model

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934.
Received, January 5, 4:30 a.m.)

Berlin, January 4.
Long extracts from President Roosevelt's important speech to the Congress on Friday were given by the Berlin papers but little enthusiasm is felt for its contents judging by the critical editorial comments.

The "Berliner Tageblatt" draws attention to the President's division of the countries of the world into expansionist nations with autocratic regimes on the one hand and peace-loving democracies on the other hand, and to the statement that 85 to 90 per cent. of the nations of the world are content with their frontiers, the remaining 10 to 15 per cent. being responsible for disturbing world peace.

"In speeches with a moral tendency," states the paper, "it is very convenient to illustrate points by means of black and white sheep. In the President's classification we doubtless belong to the black sheep. But is a pity when an eminent personage utters such generalities which only create antagonisms and a pity that President Roosevelt contributed nothing in his speech for a solution of the problems, the existence of which he acknowledges, except to recommend patience. We will be glad to exercise patience specially regarding the misunderstanding of German policy and its aims."

The "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" declares that President Roosevelt has given Europe a well-intentioned sermon, upholding the American continent as a model, but forgetting the number of hair-raising incidents which occurred there.

The United States is resolved not to let herself be dragged into any conflict and to remain neutral in any war, concludes the article, which goes on to affirm that on this point the United States policy is identical with that of Germany, which aims not to partake in the conflicts of others.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

Vigorous Challenge To His Opponents

Washington, Jan. 3.
A vigorous challenge to his opponents to come out openly with proposals for the repeal of the "New Deal" measures, instead of hiding under the cowardly cloak of generality, was made by President Roosevelt in his annual message to Congress, which was broadcast throughout the nation to-night.

President Roosevelt urged Congress to continue wholeheartedly the war on vested interests, which now that the immediate danger of economic collapse had been averted, repeated of their abdication in the panic days of 1933 and were turning savagely to rend the "New Deal" policies.

LAW OF THE SWORD

He deplored the reversion to the old belief in the law of the sword and declared that the United States has sought earnestly and consistently for peace. Since the summer of 1933 the tempers and purposes of the rulers of many great populations in Europe and Asia did not point the way either to peace or goodwill among men, but the point had been reached where the people of the Americas must take cognizance of the growing ill will marked by trends towards aggression, increasing armaments and the shortening of tempers—a situation which in its many elements was leading to tragedy and general war.

U.S. POLICY

The policy of the United States had been clear and consistent. "We have sought with earnestness every possible way in which to limit world armaments and attain a peaceful solution of the disputes among all the nations."

INDIGNATION IN ETHIOPIA

Italian Excuse For Air Bombing

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934.
Received, January 5, 4:30 a.m.)

Addis Ababa, Jan. 4.
Great indignation prevails here at the Italian statement that the bombardment in the course of which the Swedish Red Cross unit was hit was a reprisal for the de-capitation of Flight Lieutenant Tito.

In official circles here it is declared there was every justification for the natives attacking with their primitive weapons, composed of swords and lances, the plane which came down behind their lines and which both before and after the landing directed machine-gun fire against them.

The Abyssinians take the view that the right is entirely on their side against a highly civilized enemy, embittered by failure, who did not shrink from dropping poison gas bombs on the Red Cross unit and in addition from pouring machine-gun bullets into the unit.

Reprisals on the part of the Italians would be comprehensible only if the Abyssinians and not the Italians were the aggressors.

GAS BOMBS USED?

Reports from the northern front state that Italian airmen dropped no less than 3,000 bombs in the Makale sector within the past week and that on December 31 they employed gas bombs exclusively. It is asserted that while these attacks inflicted great harm on the civil population they were absolutely ineffective from the military standpoint.

The losses were given as ten dead, including two civilians, and fifteen wounded.

Increased activity is also reported from the southern front where violent fighting is stated to be in progress on the Webbe Shelli River in the region of Danane.

SWEDISH DOCTOR DIES OF WOUNDS

Story Of Air Raid On Red Cross

"UTTERLY DELIBERATE ACT"

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934.
Received, January 5, 4:30 a.m.)

Addis Ababa, January 4.
Dr. Lundstrom one of the two Swedish physicians who were wounded in the Italian bombing attack on the Swedish Red Cross unit near Dole, succumbed to his injuries on the day following the attack, and has been buried in the cemetery of the Coptic Church at Nugall, according to belated reports reaching here.

The aeroplane which left on Friday for the scene of the disaster returned here on Saturday with Dr. Hylander, the ill-fated Swedish mission's chief surgeon, who was also wounded during the attack and is now resting in the hospital here, where it is hoped he will soon recover from his injuries.—Transocean Kuo Min.

JAW SHOT AWAY

London, Jan. 4.
Press reports from Addis Ababa announce the death of Dr. Lundstrom, Swedish doctor, who was wounded in the Italian air raid on the Swedish Red Cross unit. His jaw had been shot away and he succumbed while being conveyed to camp at Nugall.

Dr. Hylander, principal medical officer of the ambulance, is in Addis Ababa and is still suffering from the effects of the raid. In an interview he is reported to have said that at least twenty bombs must have been dropped. Two patients who were on the operating table were killed instantly. Dr. Hylander says he himself was in a semi-conscious condition and was nearly suffocated by smoke and deafened by the noise. The groans and screams of wounded were terrible. Many of them were half covered by earth and stones flung up by the explosions of bombs.

After a pause in the bombing the dropping of the planes became louder and a hail of machine-gun bullets swept through the tents. Twenty-eight patients and about 50 attendants were killed in the raid.

British Wireless.

DOCTOR'S STATEMENT

Addis Ababa, Jan. 4.
"It was an utterly deliberate act," declared Dr. Hylander, when indignantly describing the Red Cross bombing in an exclusive interview with Reuter's special correspondent at Addis Ababa, Mr. Collins, upon his arrival here from the southern front by aeroplane, accompanied by Dr. Eric Smith, another Swedish doctor who was also wounded.

For several days before the bombing, said Dr. Hylander, Italian aeroplanes fired with machine-guns all round the ambulance. "On the morning of the bombing," he said, "I was in the operating theatre, when a perfect tornado of bombs and machine-gun bullets suddenly rained down upon us."

SCENE OF CARNAGE

Dr. Hylander continued: "I had just time to see two lines of three planes each enfolding the ambulance when I was hit and lost consciousness. When I opened my eyes again I saw the most terrible scene of carnage imaginable. Scores of dead, dying and wounded lay around us, amid the shrieks and groans of the wounded and the crackle of blazing tents."

"It is impossible to say how many bombs were dropped, but they must have exceeded 200, while thousands of rounds of machine-gun ammunition were fired at us. One tent has 425 bullet-holes."

FATAL WOUNDS

"Dr. Lundstrom, whose death was reported this morning, was very severely wounded but kept crying: 'I must attend to the wounded.' Dr. Lundgren, another assistant, was slightly wounded and began to help the patients. The unwounded Swedes and Abyssinian male nurses worked magnificently, but the blazing tents, fumes from the bombs and general confusion made the work most difficult and dangerous."

"Practically all our stores were destroyed. It was necessary to adopt the crudest methods to treat the injured."

NO EXCUSE FOR RAID

"Directly the news of the disaster was known Ras Desta's men rushed up and started to clear away the debris and to transport the wounded to cover, fearing that the planes would return. There was absolutely no excuse for the raid.—The ambulance had Red Cross emblems prominently displayed, in accordance with the international convention."

The Italian allegation that Abyssinian chiefs and soldiers had taken refuge in the ambulance are absolutely baseless. Even the escort provided by Ras Desta was not in the ambulance. My assistants who were outside the operating theatre say that the planes flew very low," concluded Dr. Hylander.

GROANS OF WOUNDED

Mr. Collins was the only journalist at the aerodrome when the big Fokker plane, piloted by Baron von Rosen from the south over virtually unknown territory, landed. The groans of the wounded could plainly be heard above the whirling of the propeller as the plane taxied to a standstill.

The first wounded man to emerge was Dr. Hylander, who staggered to the waiting ambulance, followed by three badly injured Abyssinians and a wounded gazelle, the mascot of the Swedish unit.—Reuter.

PRESS WARNS FRANCE

Danger On Two Frontiers

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934.
Received, January 5, 7:30 p.m.)

Paris, Jan. 5.
The Italo-Abyssinian conflict is now at the most critical stage of its development in the opinion of the nationalist paper "Liberte" in discussing the possibility of the United States Congress endorsing the oil embargo. In the latter case a decision would shortly be made at Geneva to enforce the new sanctions including oil which up till now has been postponed and the world would be brought into acute danger of a general war.

France, the paper points out, is the only country participating in the sanctions which has a common frontier with Italy. Thus the "illogic and bloodthirsty Geneva policy" compelled France to face the possibility of Italian planes destroying Lyon and Toulon and of the Bersagliers descending into the French Alpine valleys. But to withdraw the troops from the Rhine frontier in order to protect the Alps would give a unique opportunity to Germany which "is thirsting for revenge."

Economic sanctions had already increased unemployment in France. Now perhaps the country was on the eve of mobilisation and the unemployed of to-day would be the corpses of to-morrow. Therefore, concludes the paper, it behooves France to get out of this "witches' cauldron" as soon as possible.—Transocean Kuo Min.

London, Jan. 4.
There is good prospect of a relatively dry week-end throughout Britain to allow the floods to subside. The waters further receded in the upper reaches of the Thames yesterday and it is believed that the flooding of the river generally reached its peak last night. A general abatement may now be looked for.

Below Windsor the floods spread yesterday and the greater part of the private grounds of Windsor Castle adjoining the river was under water last night. St. Peter's Church at Old Windsor was flooded and to-morrow services are being held in the Mission Church nearby. Many roads in the lower Thames valley were still under water this morning.—British Wireless.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IN CHINA

Shanghai, Jan. 5.
The Chinese financial situation is said to be confronted with a serious crisis, allegedly because of the increased pressure on Chinese silver, created by the silver purchasing policy of the United States Government.

To devise measures to cope with the situation, Finance Minister H. H. Kung arrived here from the capital this morning and held a long conference with Mr. T. V. Soong, chairman of the board of directors of the Central Bank of China. This afternoon, he held a conference of representatives of the Government banks and other financial leaders, to which Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British Government, was invited. Mr. Soong was also present.

The belief is expressed in informed financial circles that Nanking will have to make major modifications in its currency reform programme.—United News.

INDEPENDENCE RUMOURS DENIED

Most of the Inner Mongolian Princes it was further pointed out, are still in Suifu, and this would point to the falseness of the independence rumours.—United News.

Civilians v Chinese Match Nearly End In Riot

Clean football seems to be on the decline as evidenced by the display yesterday in the match between the Chinese and the Civilians in the semi-final clash when after a series of deliberate fouls Tam Kong Pak was ordered off the field for dangerous play. This incident and that of a hand against a civilian defender in the area almost precipitated the match into a near riot. The refereeing of the game, too, needed much improvement.

In the other semi-final clash between the Army and Navy a clean wholesome and clever game ended in a win for the Navy by the odd goal in five.

League football during the week-end produced no surprises. Club and Police shared the spoils, while South China "A" and "B", and Recreio won as expected. The Royal Ulster Rifles made their debut and bowed to the Saints by the odd goal in three. Their display augurs well for their future in the Colony in the realm of football.

ARMY-NAVY CLASH

A very fast and exciting soccer encounter between the Army and the Navy was witnessed at the K.F.C. ground yesterday, when the Navy won a glorious game by 3 goals to 2.

The Navy are certainly to be congratulated for their well earned victory, for they forced the issue from beginning to end and were on top of the soldiers for most of the game. It was undoubtedly a grand all round display and a weak link was not to be found in the Navy XI whatsoever.

Stallard and Regier were just anchored to their posts, and the Army forwards found them mighty difficult to pass. Roberts in the Navy goal gave a splendid display and brought off some grand saves. Of their halves there was nothing to choose between them, but perhaps Bowers did outshine his two partners at times.

On the forwards, Philip and Ryan on the right wing position were dangerous throughout. Philip on the right extreme brought off some delightful centres while his inside partner Ryan, was instrumental in some fine passing movements.

The Army played Coakley at centre forward but he failed to combine effectively with Harrison and Talbot. The latter was inclined to dribble a bit too much, had he passed more often the result might have been different. Swaine and Steel were as sound as ever, but Morton at centre-half was disappointing at times.

From the kick off the Navy began to press strongly, and after 10 minutes play Philip sent over a fine centre to Ryan who drove a hot shot at close quarters. Rowlands made a fine save but the ball rebounded off him back to Ryan who netted the first goal.

Shortly after this Smith had a glorious chance of evening matters for the Army, but he shot wide.

The Navy went further ahead when Crawford initiated a fine move and transferred to Philip who netted the second goal with a fine header. Just before the interval Ryan missed a fine opportunity when he failed to connect with a header.

On the resumption the Navy still kept up a fast pace and were all round the Army goal, but they could not increase their lead. However the Army got going and Coakley almost reduced the deficit when he got possession of the ball but with only Robert to beat, he shot wide.

The side began to turn in favour of the Army who began to take the offensive, and it was not long before they were rewarded. Harrison received the ball, ran through on his own and scored a good goal. Inspired by this success they went on to swarm the Navy goal, and soon afterwards Smith netted a fine header.

The Navy got ahead when they forced a corner and from the resultant kick Philip netted the third goal. The Army tried very hard to take a draw, but failed to penetrate the strong Navy defence, and so had to admit defeat after a glorious battle.

DISGRACEFUL SOCCER

(BY "PIVOT")

A disgraceful exhibition of football which almost ended in a riot and resulted in a 4 to 2 victory for the Chinese over the Civilians in the semi-final of the Lai Wah Cup culminated in Tam Kong Pak being ordered off the field for dangerous play.

The referee had very poor control of the game in its early stages, when the Chinese who were the chief offenders were let off with many obvious fouls. Not until Tam Kong Pak deliberately kicked Elliot, was the first stern measure taken by the referee and from then on things went to its worst. When a clear handling of the ball in the Civilians' penalty area was let off by the referee, the spectators and players (Chinese) alike threatened to stop the game and at the members' enclosure a riot very nearly took place. But better counsels prevailed and the Chinese carried on and at half time the score stood at 2 goals all.

In the first half of the game the Civilians were definitely the superior team and had the Chinese guessing most of the time. Lee Wai Tong who played at the last minute was obviously labouring under his "troubles" and the close policing of him by Betrao who incidentally played a stellar game yesterday reduced the Chinese attack to a minimum.

The Civilians scored first through Elliot, who received a neat centre from Bickford to head it past the advancing Pau. Keeping up pressure Blas centred into the Chinese area and Ward obtaining enticed Pau out of his charge to net into an empty goal. After this tempo was frayed and Tam Kong Pak was ordered off for dangerous play.

The Chinese later settled down to better football and were soon rewarded with a goal scored by Lai Shu Wing from a centre by Tso Kwai Shing. Just before half time Lee Wai Tong dribbled the ball past Blackburn and equalised with a grounder.

In the course of the first half play, Lee Wai Tong was injured and the Chinese carried on playing with 9 men.

After the lemon play became desultory, the Civilians contented themselves with short passing bouts whereas the Chinese swung the ball about. After a bout of mid-field play Rodger saved from Lai Shu Wing and allowed Fung King Cheung to bundle the ball past to put the Chinese up.

Towards the close of the game Fung scored his second goal after a neat passing bout between him, Lee Wai Tong and Lai Shu Wing. The Chinese were then playing with nine men, Lee Kwok Wal being injured. Play towards the close resembled more of a farce, than football as deliberate kicking was still being carried on and the Chinese kicking the ball out of play whenever possible.

The following were the line-ups: Civilians:—Rodger, Blackburn, Pile, North, Betrao, Blas, B. Gosano, A. Ward, Elliot, E. Strange and Bickford. Chinese:—Pau Ka Ping, Mak, Sui Hon, Tam Kong Pak, Lai Kwok

ARMY BEATS CLUB

IN A DULL RUGBY MATCH

Triangular Tournament

The Army by their 11 points to 4 victory over the Club became winners in the Triangular Rugby Tournament on Saturday when a large and distinguished gathering saw an exciting game.

The outstanding feature of the game was provided by Preece, the Army full back who gave an all round good performance. The winners played well as a team and time and again by their cohesion they gained ground.

In contrast to the winners the Club's pack were loose and with the exception of Gammell and Walkden the rest were out of the picture. Robertson played another disappointing game.

The Club opened with a rush, and inside of five minutes Butcher opened the scoring with a fine dropped-goal from 30 yards.

ARMY GO AHEAD

The Army then pressed and went ahead as the result of a fine try by Rice-Evans, who was featured in a thrilling passing bout with Withers, the latter passing when over the line, and just about to be tackled, for Rice-Evans to score. Gillespie added the points with a fine kick from a difficult angle.

The Club were pressing for most of the second half, but the Army broke away for Floyd to cut through in brilliant style to score between the posts. Gillespie, however, failed to convert.

Just before the end, when the Club were trying desperately hard to equalise, Jones went over for an unconverted try to place the issue beyond doubt.

Club:—L. G. Robertson; H. R. McGilchrist, P. Wilson, X. J. Hutchison and K. A. Munro; A. H. R. Butcher and J. L. Bonnar; J. H. McEnley, G. S. Chambers, A. F. Walkden; J. S. Dunnett, W. E. Peers; F. J. McGugan, E. P. Humphreys and E. B. Gammell.

Among the large gathering present were His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, His Excellency the G.O.C., Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, the Hon. Colonial Secretary, Sir Thomas Southern and Lady Southern, and Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Grayburn.

FRIENDLY GAME

In a friendly rugby game, the Club "A" XV lost to H.M.S. Kent by 6 points to three. Splendid forward play by the Naval pack featured the clash.

The Navy scored an unconverted try in the first half through Woodman, and in the second half went further ahead through Harris, the kick again falling, and just before the end the club scored through Black Frost falling with the kick.

WEEK-END CRICKET

OWEN HUGHES' MAGNIFICENT BATTING DISPLAY

A Seven Wickets Victory

Only one senior league cricket game was played on Saturday when the Hong Kong Cricket Club beat the Craigengower Cricket Club by 7 wickets. Thanks to Harry Owen Hughes who carried his bat for 100 runs the winners were able to declare the innings close at 178 runs for 3 wickets.

Four other junior league games were played and resulted in victories for C.C.C., Navy, Police and the Recreio.

H.K.C.C. 7 WICKETS WIN

Set to score 172 runs in 95 minutes in their league cricket match against the Craigengower Cricket Club at Happy Valley, on Saturday the Hong Kong Cricket Club achieved this difficult task with seven wickets to spare, thanks to a magnificent batting display by H. Owen Hughes, the former Colony skipper, who carried his bat for 100 runs. He was ably supported by R. D. Gillespie who contributed 45 to the third wicket partnership of 98.

F. K. Lee, who scored 89 for Craigengower, hit 16 boundaries and was particularly harsh on anything loose, though he might have been caught behind the sticks when he was in his early twenties. Alec Pearce bowled well for the Club and but for some indifferent fielding, his 7 wickets would not have cost 87 runs.

Both Owen Hughes and Gillespie hit out to good advantage, the former hitting 16 boundaries and the latter nine. The Club skipper (for yesterday's game) scored his 100 in 80 minutes while Gillespie was at the wicket for 38 minutes.

R.A. AND LANCES DRAW
A big surprise in Saturday's First Division Soccer encounter was the drawn match at Prince Edward Road between R.A. Iyemun and the East Lances, both sides scoring once.

The Lances however have lost a number of good players in the past few weeks and thus had to try out a few of their new men.

GREECE TAKES PRECAUTIONS

Military Activity In Islands

Athens, Jan. 4.
Extensive military preparations, including new fortifications, the construction of military roads and the provision of large supplies of food and military stores, are reported to be proceeding in the Dodecanese Islands.
Some 9,000 troops are stated to be concentrated on Leros Island. They are described as well equipped and organized. Numbers of new batteries have been sent to the island, and most of them are placed in position at Pantell, St. Marina, Laki and Alendama.
Eighteen warships, including five submarines and many aircraft, are concentrated at Laki.
It is stated that there will be combined fleet and air manoeuvres on January 24 between the islands of Leros, Stampalia and Calymnos. Labourers from all the islands are engaged in military road construction on the island of Leros, which is reported to be fortified and interwoven with military roads, which are heavily guarded. There are sufficient military stores on the island to last a year.

ATTACK ON KALGAN

Kalgan, Jan. 5.
Pro-Japanese troops under General Li Shou-hsin are storming this city with the object of including the province of Chahar in the domain of Manchukuo.
General Sung Che-yuan, Chairman of the Hpeh and Chahar Political Council, has ordered Lieut-General Chang Chi-chung, local garrison commandant, to defend Kalgan at all costs.
Li Shou-hsin, who figured prominently in North China events, is the commanding officer of a band of irregulars in Inner Mongolia, who are supported by the Kwantung Command (Japanese forces in Manchuria).
Five counties in Eastern Chahar including Changpei are occupied by Li's troops.

ALLEGED JAPANESE MENACE

Melbourne, Jan. 5.
In consequence of statements that a party of Japanese landed on the North Queensland coast and molested holiday-makers and insulted some women, Mr. J. Patterson, the Federal Minister of Interior, is obtaining an immediate report on what he regards as the most serious aspect of the matter, the ease with which prohibited immigrants can enter Australia.
The two patrol launches now being built are considered insufficient to prevent a recurrence of the incident, and it is believed likely that the Commonwealth will ask Japan to deal with any of her nationals who without authorisation land in Australia.

MORE AIR ATTACKS

Dessale, Jan. 3.
Ras Nassibu, the Ethiopian commander at this sector, reports that Italian aeroplanes on the southern front have bombed and machine-gunned the wells at Bulale and Sasabaneh, twenty miles south of Daggahur, killing five Ethiopians and nineteen camels.

NEW AIR STAMP IN GERMANY

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Berlin, Jan. 3.
On the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the foundation of "Deutsche Luftlinie," the great German air transport company, the German post office will issue on January 6 limited editions of new 40 pfennig stamps, bearing the picture of the modern aeroplane as well as an inscription referring to the anniversary. The stamp may also be used for mail to foreign countries.

CABLE NEWS IN BRIEF

HUNGARY'S TRADE COMPLAINT

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, January 5, 7.30 p.m.)
Budapest, Jan. 5.
Hungarian public opinion is extremely disconcerted at England's refusal to grant the same customs rebate on Hungarian poultry exports as she has granted Yugoslavia on poultry as well as eggs and bacon as compensation for losses suffered by Yugoslavia owing to her participation in the economic sanctions against Italy.
The effects of the British decision will be felt all the more keenly since the export of poultry to England has increased considerably. The Hungarian government, it is stated, had advanced the view to London that on the basis of the most favoured nation clause in the trade agreement Hungary must be granted the same customs duties as Yugoslavia. The British Government, it is understood, rejected this claim with the declaration that reductions of duties to Yugoslavia had been made according to a decision of the League of Nations. Since Hungary is also a member of the League of Nations it was her duty to submit to its decisions.

CHINESE COMMENT ON TOKYO REPORTS

Nanking, Jan. 5.
Commenting on the reports from Tokyo that a joint committee will be shortly organised for readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations, official circles stated that though the two Governments agreed on the necessity of readjusting their relations nothing concrete has yet taken shape with regard to how readjustment is to be achieved.

BOWLER PENALISED FOR "INTIMIDATION"

Sydney, Jan. 4.
It is revealed that during the Sheffield Shield match yesterday Eddie Gilbert, Queensland's aboriginal fast bowler, was no-balled under the new Australian anti-"bodyline" rule forbidding intimidatory bowling. Two deliveries from Gilbert split the fingers of two New South Wales batsmen, Robinson and Mudge. Gilbert, who is the first bowler to be no-balled under the new rule, denied that he was bowling at the man and blamed the wicket on which "spots" could be clearly seen.

SOVIET NOTE TO LEAGUE

Geneva, Jan. 4.
A Soviet note to the League complains that Uruguay has committed a breach of the Covenant in connection with the rupturing of relations, inasmuch as Article XII provides that States must submit disputes to arbitration or judicial settlement.
M. Litvinoff asks that the question of irregularity be placed on the Council's agenda for the meeting on January 20.

CHARWOMEN BANNED IN JEWISH HOUSEHOLDS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, January 5, 7.30 p.m.)
Berlin, Jan. 5.
Charwomen may not work in Jewish households under the provisions of the Nuremberg law for the protection of the race, it is pointed out by the National Socialist organ "Hessen-Nassau" this law applying not only to permanent domestic servants but all female household helps under the age of 35 or 45 according to circumstances. All such persons conclude the announcement must give up their work in "non-aryan households immediately."

RAILWAY RATES IN GERMANY

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, January 3, 7.30 p.m.)
Berlin, Jan. 3.
Freight rates on German State railways will be raised by 5 per cent. as from January 20 it is officially announced. No alteration, however, will be made in the passenger rates. Certain important articles of food are exempted from increase, which also does not apply to the special import and export rates.

AMERICAN DISCUSSIONS WITH MEXICO

Trade Expansion Move

New York, Jan. 4.
Current discussions with Mexico constitute the first of a series of conferences whereby the United States hopes to establish a bimetallic monetary standard between the Pan-American countries according to the Journal of Commerce.
It is proposed to use silver and gold jointly. This is believed to be motivated by the desire of the United States to regain the loss of trade in South America and expand the United States commerce on this continent.

CHINA OFFERS TO BUY SILVER

Payment In Notes And At Premium

London, Jan. 5.
It is learned from Shanghai that the Chinese Government has offered to buy silver from foreign banks in Shanghai, payment to be made by notes issued by the Chinese Government and at a premium.
It is understood that the American banks have already sold a certain amount of silver to the Government, but the attitude of the British and continental banks is still uncertain.

A NEW CHINESE VOGUE.

THE INFLUENCE ON DECORATION

How Goldfish Came To England

London, Dec. 15.
There is to be a Chinese vogue, we are told, in interior decoration. The great London shops are prepared for it. Large stocks of Chinese pottery and porcelain, lacquer furniture, carpets, and rugs have been laid in, and the Chinese Exhibition is expected to do the rest.
How far this fashion will spread and to what extent—if any—it will influence the history of English taste are matters of great interest when one considers the effect made by a similar vogue nearly two centuries ago.

The pagoda at Kew, the goldfish in our garden ponds, and the glided beasts of the roundabout—half bird, half animal—which still revolve to the strains of a steam organ upon so many village greens at fair time are some of the more familiar legacies which we inherit from a preoccupation, on the part of our eighteenth-century ancestors, with all things Chinese.
The furniture which Chippendale made for clients who believed it to be in the best possible taste "à la Chinoise," the suites of rooms in so many of our great country houses decorated after the Chinese manner—a manner which consisted, according to Goldsmith, of "sprawling dragons, squatting pagodas, and clumsy mandarins stuck upon everything"—are now the much-prized relics of an allegiance, both spiritual and aesthetic to the Far East, which was one of the most remarkable phases in eighteenth-century European history.

The growth of trade with China had been steadily increasing all through the last part of the seventeenth century and the first part of the eighteenth through the enterprise of the East India Companies of Portugal, Holland and England, and all the treasures of the still half-mythical Celestial Empire were pouring into an astonished and delighted West—ranging from the choicest gifts of silks and porcelain, for the palaces of France down to the gaudy wallpapers which English sea-captains brought back as curios.

But it was the Jesuit missionaries who brought the first goldfish to Europe; they were a present to La Pompadour from the Emperor of China. And it was the Jesuits who published the first translations of the works of Confucius, the study of which, in the years that followed, was to convince a vast number of people that the "salvation" of western civilisation depended upon a proper understanding of the spirit upon which the Chinese Empire was founded.

Not only was China believed to be the source of all that was best in art, but she was believed to offer, in the example of her imperial organisation, a solution to all the problems which beset the deeply introspective Europe of the eighteenth century.

While the philosophers and the political economists preached the necessity of a complete infusion of Chinese ideas into the West, all the outward and visible signs of such a belief were practised all over Europe. In 1755 Louis XV. was persuaded by La Pompadour to open the spring tilling, after the custom of the Chinese Emperors,

THE NORMANDIE PRAISED

"Propaganda Ship" For The French Nation

Berlin.—The hope that Germany would shortly be in a position to build a ship possessing all the qualities of the giant French liner Normandie was expressed by Herr Sutor, a German navigation expert, in a lecture before the Nautical Society of Hamburg on the subject of Normandie's maiden trip and the peculiarities of her construction.

The speaker praised the French ship for her stability, the luxuriousness of her accommodation and the perfection of her installations destined to fight the flames in case of fire on board.

"The builders of the Normandie," he said, "were not guided by commercial considerations. It is a propaganda ship of the French nation."

The sequence of Admiralty work obtained by Messrs. Cammell Laird and Co., Ltd., is continued by the order for the construction of a fleet leader under the 1935 programme. The importance of naval contracts to the firm is shown by the fact that this is added to four orders at present in hand; these are the fleet leader Hardy, the submarine Spearfish, the aircraft-carrier Ark Royal and the new machinery for the Renown.

The volume of shipbuilding on Merseyside shows new slight improvement on last week, some new work being reported.

Messrs. Cammell Laird are proceeding with repairs to the Athelqueen and the Shropshire, which are berthed in their Nos. 6 and 7 graving docks, respectively, while machinery repairs are in hand to the British Isles.

The firm are supplying and fitting new furnaces to the Bradda, and are carrying out work in the wet basin on the Pan Norway and the Hallus; the former is in for machinery repairs, and the latter for repairs to tank-top plating. Work is proceeding to the Athelcrown and Atheltempah. The Cumbria, Sandhead, Athelknight, Ardgarroch, and the tug Grebe Cock have been completed.

The firm have completed work on the Navasota and the Lochgoll.

Now is the time to visit
Australia & New Zealand

lands of Sunshine and Romance. "Down Under" you will find a new being and even if you are not inclined towards fishing, shooting or mountaineering you will find that the Antipodes have plenty to offer you—beating 25 for your pound.

On the way down your life aboard will be as you wish, quiet or hectic for the B. & A. will humour your every whim.

And by the way, there is no additional charge for Deck Cabins and there is of course a Sun Deck Swimming pool, an Orchestra and a fine Laundry.

A Surgeon and Stewards are at your disposal and last but not least—we had almost forgotten—the cuisine will set you listening eagerly for the Cook's story.

Regular monthly sailings from Hong Kong to Shanghai and Japan and Hong Kong to Australia.

Hong Kong to Sydney—19 days.
Frequent connections from Australia with the following—
The Union S.S. Co.'s Steamers to the United Kingdom via New Zealand, Vancouver, San Francisco, etc.

The P. & O. Royal Mail Steamers to London and
The P. & O. Branch Service of Steamers to London via Suez.
